What Is Dilaudid and Why Is It Prescribed?

Dilaudid is an opioid analgesic that works by interacting with pain receptors in the brain and nervous system, helping reduce pain intensity and improve comfort. It is often prescribed for post-surgical pain, injury recovery, or chronic pain conditions when other treatments are not sufficient. Due to its potency, Dilaudid is classified as a Schedule II controlled medication, meaning it requires strict medical oversight, a valid prescription, and regulated pharmacy dispensing.
